Baptists Discuss Financial Aid to George Washington

Express Objections to Proposed Union With the American University (Methodist)—President Collier Issues Statement Saying Both Baptists and Methodists Eligible "Suitors"

CANNOT BECOME SECTARIAN

President Collier has given out the following statement: "My attention has been called to the report in one of the Washington papers of November 19th that at the recent session of The Columbia Baptist Association a history of the former relations of the University with the Baptist Church was given and the desire was expressed that they might be restored, in view of the fact that the local Baptists would now be able to devote to the University a considerable portion of the $50,000,000 which that great denomination has raised throughout the nation for educational purposes. It is also stated that the association regretted that a number of years ago, when the Baptists were somewhat financially straitened, they had to cease supporting the University and the two, therefore, separated. The article to which I refer also declares that so strong is the desire of the Baptist Association today for a re-union with the University that it voiced its objections to a union which has been under consideration between The George Washington University and The American University. The latter, it may be said, is a Methodist institution.

"The George Washington University is very proud of the many year's association which it had with the Baptist denomination, and is grateful to it for some very wholesome influences and for some financial help that was extended to it by Baptists in its early days when it was known as the Columbian College. That financial help was, however, always grossly inadequate to its needs.

"The connection between the University and the denomination has been somewhat fickle. Although the institution was founded in 1821 as the result of the persistent efforts of Luther Rice, a great Baptist home missionary, it was not, at first, in any way subject to the control or supervision of that denomination, and no religious test was applied to its trustees, faculty or students.

"Afterwards a closer corporate relation with the Baptist Church was established. By an amended charter a large proportion of its trustees had to be Baptists, and as a result, for several decades its Presidents were members of that church and the institution was properly considered as belonging to that denomination. This connection was, however, dissolved very many years ago because of the admitted financial inability of the Baptists, at that time, to support the University. Since then the University, although remaining thoroughly Christian in character (using the word "Christian" in the broadest sense) has been absolutely non-sectarian.

Baptists Founders and Supporters.

"It is free of all denominational control except that, according to the terms of a scholarship founded by Amos Kendall, Postmaster General in the Cabinet of President Andrew Jackson, one trustee must be nominated by the Calvary Baptist Church of Washington as long as the University makes use of the income of this fund, which now provides in part for the tuition of one or two students.

"As a tribute to the Baptist founders, the University still applies the name under which it was organized—Columbian College—to one of the four divisions of the Department of Arts and Sciences. This college is, in effect, the College of Liberal Arts of the University. The Dean of Columbian College is Prof. William Allen Wilbur, the widely known Shakespearean scholar and recognized authority in rhetoric. He is not only greatly beloved in the University but is a Baptist minister in good and regular standing. I noted with interest that the same session at which the Baptist Association expressed its disapproval of the union of The George Washington University and the American University, it sent a message of congratulation to Brother Warren G. Harding, the first Baptist to be elected to the presidency of the United States. It is, therefore, not irrelevant for me to say that Brother Harding is an honorary alumnus of The George Washington University.

All Faiths Represented.

"Nearly all faiths are today represented in the membership of the Board of Trustees, as well as in the teaching staff which comprises 250 professors, assistant professors and other instructors of various grades. Yet no sectarian test is applied. Among the 5,000 students there are Protestants, Roman Catholics, Jews, and even a few adherents of Oriental religions.

"During this non-sectarian period the University has grown enormously in the scope of its work, its prestige, and the number of its students. Its financial resources are still inadequate to its expanding needs and its almost unlimited possibilities.

Suitors Are Welcome.

"The University feels highly flattered by the attentions which the Baptist Association would now show to it. That it is to have so many suitors is very pleasing, especially as the wooing apparently is so ardent that it has stirred up such rivalry that one suitor, upon the day which it feared was to be the eve of our marriage to another, has actually stood up in church and raised objections and protested that these latter two should not be joined together.

"Speaking in loco parentis for this University which is being so eagerly sought after, I will admit that the fact that one suitor—the American University—is said to be worth $3,000,000 or $4,000,000 and that the rival suitor—the Baptist Association—comes to me saying it can offer as a dowry a large portion of a $50,000,000 fund, does not disqualify either of them as suitors. Not even the fact that the proposal of the Baptist suitor is virtually a suggestion of the re-marriage of a divorced couple, or, at least, of the restitution of conjugal relations between the parties that have been separated, will cause me to advise the University to scorn its attentions. I believe there are very few jurisdictions where either the moral law or statute law prohibits such reconciliations and re-marriages.

Will Be More Than a Sister.

"Under certain conditions the University might be willing to be much more than a sister to the Baptist Association, if the latter really desires to unite with it—for better, for worse, for richer, for poorer, and to endow the University with all its worldly goods—it being understood that this means a goodly portion of the $50,000,000. If, therefore, the Methodist suitor—the American University—wishes to win our University, it must press its suit vigorously. Although there has been some talk of a union between it and our University, all rumors as to an engagement must be, and are hereby, denied. No marriage has yet been arranged.

"Very soon I may be compelled to ask both of these suitors if their intentions are really serious. I realize that that places upon me the obligation to state some of the conditions that this much-wooed University would insist upon before it would forever link its destiny with another. To let these suitors continue their attentions in ignorance of these conditions and then, with seeming caprice, to reject them both, would subject our University to the charge of being a flirt.

Conditions of Marriage.

"We ought, then, to say that our University would never consent to the use of the word 'obey' in the ritual according to which she would be forever joined together with another. In plainer English, if plainer English is needed, she would never be willing to submit herself absolutely to the control of another corporation and be entirely merged in it. In the second place, our University would not promise to join the church of her new spouse. In other words, it is absolutely essential that the University,

LETTER MEN'S CLUB ELECTIONS COMPLETED

Club Makes Rapid Progress in Organization; By-Laws Drawn Up by John Ladd and Ralph Aten.

The G. W. Club met in Lisner Hall Wednesday night, November 17, and elected officers and passed by-laws presented by John Ladd and Ralph Aten. Those elected are: John Ladd, vice president; Willard Brechlow, secretary; and "Bill" Ballinger, treasurer. Ladd was manager of the 1919-20 tennis team; Brechlow won his letter in basketball last year; and Ballinger captained last year's tennis team.

President "Gene" Underwood presided and announced he had not yet secured all of the names, addresses and information concerning their year and sports of letter men. The next meeting of the club will be held Monday, November 29, at 8 p. m., in the auditorium of Lisner Hall.

MEDICAL FROSH HOLD FIRST PARTY OF YEAR

The Medical frosh made merry Friday night, November 19, in Lisner Hall when they held the first class party of the year. Forty couples attended, and in addition an overabundance of entertainment and refreshments were present. A five-piece darkey orchestra made dancing a stellar feature of the evening.

A program, including entertainment by some outside professionals and clever singing by members of the class, was given in great style and enjoyed immensely. Dancing lasted throughout the evening. Ice cream, cake and punch were served in generous quantities.

Secretary Kayser dropped in for a few minutes on his way to the football hop and was given a cordial welcome.

Plans of Arts and Sciences Building To Be Erected on 21st St. Referred To Finance Committee.

Plans for the new building to be added to the Arts and Science Department and the indorsement of nearly 100 appointments in the various departments of the University were the principal matters before the Board of Trustees and the Executive Committee, which met on November 10. This was the first meeting of these two bodies since the beginning of the scholastic year.

The meeting was held in the president's office at 2101 G Street Northwest. Plans for the new building were discussed and subsequently referred to the committees on finance and of the Arts and Science department. Various reports and routine matters were disposed of.

Immediately preceding the board meeting, the Executive Committee held a session to take cognizance of the ninety-odd appointments which have been made to the faculty of the University. This number includes those which were enacted during the summer months. Appointments were made of professors, assistant professors, lecturers, and assistant librarians. Those appointed are:

Law School.

Lyman P. Wilson, professor of law.
Thomas C. Lavery, assistant professor of law.
Hector G. Spaulding, assistant professor of law.
Frank Seymour Smith, lecturer in law.
Spencer Gordon, lecturer in law.
Wilbur LaRoe, lecturer in law.
Harleigh H. Hartmann, lecturer in law.
William Saulsbury, assist. librarian.

Medical School.

Col. Eugene R. Whitmore, associate professor of bacteriology and professor of preventive medicine in the graduate school.
J. Duerson Stout, associate professor of psychiatry and clinical neurology.
Edward Urbane Reed, associate professor of tropical medicine.
Reginald Alex Cutting, associate professor of physiology.
James H. Defandorf, associate professor of pharmacology.
Albert Elwood Pagan, associate in gynecology.
Elijah White Titus, associate in gynecology.
Eugene A. Taylor, instructor in larngology.

ENGINEERING SENIORS ELECT CLASS OFFICERS

The Engineering Seniors of George Washington University have formed a live-wire organization in preparation for the coming graduation. Officers were elected as follows: M. R. Tonkin, president; S. B. Michael, vice president; J. B. Brady, secretary; H. L. Strong, treasurer, and Z. A. Biggs, sergeant at arms. Gordon Tibbitts was appointed class reporter for the Cherry Tree.

A committee comprising H. L. Strong, S. B. Michael and Gordon Tibbitts was appointed to investigate the design of a class pin and cooperate with the senior classes of other departments of the University.

It is an interesting fact that the Senior Class in engineering is made up this year of about 45 per cent electrical engineers, 45 per cent chemical engineers and 10 per cent mechanical and civil engineers.

G. W. U. OUTLUCKED BY C. U. PLAYERS

Hatchettes Appear to Have Battle Won When Denault Intercepts Forward Pass and Makes Long Run.

George Washington University was distinctly outlucked in the annual football game played Thanksgiving Day afternoon in the Central High School stadium when the team went down to a 13-to-0 defeat. While nothing but praise can be bestowed upon the victors, their victory was made certain in one of the flukes of the local gridiron season. In the final quarter of the game, with a touchdown and defeat staring them in the face, the Brooklanders were fortunate enough to have an opportunist in the person of Denault, who intercepted a forward pass on the 5-yard line and raced 95 yards for a touchdown for C. U., which turned the tide abruptly from almost certain defeat to a victory.

Capt. Harry Hawley and Coach Bryan Morse have nothing to be ashamed of in losing to Catholic University. The Hatchettes played fine football, showed great determination and in the final quarter staged an advance which looked like a certain win but for the fluke play of Denault.

The G. W. U. team deserved a much better fate, for the score fails to tell the desperate fight put up by both elevens, who appeared evenly matched throughout.

George Washington failed to get a single break during the entire game. On four distinct occasions a bit of luck would have made certain at least three touchdowns and would have turned the game into a one-sided victory for the Hatchettes. At the start of the quarter G. W. U., with J. Loehler punting magnificently, forced C. U. to the brink of its goal line.

When Denault punted to the 35-yard line Kay fumbled the punt just long enough to lose the opportunity to run it back almost without opposition. Springston grabbed the fumble which, had he played in the first place, would have scored six points.

The Brooklanders uncorked a series of line plunges which, coupled with two rather lucky forward passes, gave them a touchdown. Once scored upon, the Hatchettes redoubled their efforts and completed outplayed the Brooklanders in the second half.

Forward passes to J. Loehler and McAllister, a long end run by Kay and Loehler's fine punting kept the Brooklanders on the defense. During the entire third quarter the ball was on the C. U. 35-yard line with G. W. U. threatening all the while. Kay's line

NEW LOCAL SORORITY FORMED AT UNIVERSITY

A new local sorority has been organized under the name of Gamma Delta Rho. The charter members are Misses Olive Prescott, Lois McDaris, Marion Holliday, Verna Short, Olive Geiger, Ruth Pilcher, Katharine Bryant, and Daisy Robison. The list of patrons and patronesses includes Mrs. Leslie Shaw, Miss Mabel T. Boardman, the Honorable and Mrs. John Marshall Robison, Mrs. Matthew Scott, Dean and Mrs. Merton L. Ferson, Dr. Josephine Baird, Mrs. William May, and Prof. and Mrs. John T. Erwin.

WOMEN'S UNIVER. CLUB NOTICE.

It has been planned that this year a list of the members of the Women's University Club will appear in the Cherry Tree. All W. U. C. membership fees must be paid before December 20, 1920, in order to have name in the Cherry Tree.

PYRAMID HOLDS LUNCHEON.

The first monthly luncheon of the Pyramid Honor Society was held at St. Marks last Monday. Those present were Prof. Hall, John W. Townsend, secretary of the Law School, Eugene Underwood, Cameron Burbon and Harry Newman.

SOPHOMORE MIXER.

The Sophomore Class will hold its first mixer December 6, and in order that this be a success the financial support of all is needed. The amount which is assessed each student is only 50 cents, and everyone should be able to meet this. Come out and give the class a backing that will make it a big success.

The Football Season

The football season is over. Despite the fact that G. W. U. won but one game, the season was a success. Confronted with a schedule in its first year which was more difficult than Harvard, Yale, Georgia Tech or Georgetown, the football team went through creditably. But one game was one, it is true. But with such formidable elevens on the list, the team was up against the stiffest sort of proposition.

The most promising and gratifying thing about the season is that a fine start was made and great progress noted for future years on the gridiron. But one man on the team had varsity football experience. The average age of the team is but little more than that of a high school. Every man who played in the final game of the season has one, two or three years more at G. W. U.

The statement has been made, and it is probably true, that a better football team is in George Washington University than that which played Thanksgiving Day. In other words, there are known to be many star players in the University who either couldn't find the time to get out, didn't want to play, or put off coming out until it was too late. Another year and all available material will be thoroughly canvassed before the season, so that the best team can take the field.

At considerable sacrifice of time and money, many of the players of this year's team gave themselves up for the football team. The schedule was hard, the hours for practice were arranged to meet conditions, and the most was made of the situation. The hardest part of the task has been completed. George Washington has shown it can put out a good team, a creditable eleven, and one of which the University is justly proud. Another year and with a schedule which is more appropriate, will find greater interest in athletics and in the University.

Spirit in G. W.

Members of the Sphinx Honor Society collected in two or three days nearly $98 to defray the expenses of a band, signs, printing, etc., used in making a success of our cheering section at the C. U. game. These girls must have personally interviewed over one thousand students for approximately one thousand donations of nickels and dimes. Incidentally, this fact shows that the students are really interested in backing the team. It is interesting to note the relative amounts given in the different departments. Arts and Sciences gave $48.60; Law, $40.19, and Medical $8.91. On a basis of a ten cents per capita donation, 18.3 per cent of the Arts and Sciences students, 51 per cent of the Law, and 78.7 per cent of the Medical contributed to the fund. If this indicates the relative amount of interest the different departments have in Student Activities, then the Medical is certainly far ahead of the other departments in interest shown. What is the matter with Arts and Sciences? Of more than 2,600 students, only about 486 gave a dime apiece toward this effort to organize a real cheering section for G. W. U. Are there only 486 students in Arts and Sciences with a bit of school spirit, or are the students there just too timid to show it? J. T.

Do Your Part Now

Have you paid your Student Activity money? You have been billed. Kick across right away so that all of the plans proposed for student activities can be followed. The Hatchet hates to dun anyone. You have been getting your Hatchet, you have been going to the home football games, at least you were entitled to go when you signed the Activity Blank. Pay what you owe.

Are You Getting It Now?

Perhaps you are not getting the Hatchet weekly. There's a reason. The Hatchet comes out once a week. It is mailed to each signer of the Activity Blank. In some instances the trainer corps of chirographers worked hours on some of the signatures and addresses, gave up, and guessed because the handwriting would cause a third-grade kid to be ashamed of himself. If you don't get a Hatchet it is because your handwriting was impossible. Drop a card to John G. Ladd, Business Manager of The Hatchet, 2022 G Street Northwest. He'll straighten things out for you.

Dear Mr. Stephen: I am taking English and must get a hold of "Will o' the Mill." How can I do it?

Answer: I've done my best for you, but although I've asked a bunch of people, nobody seems to know him. One guy told me he saw him at the Student Council dance with the "Lady of Shalott," but I think he was kidding me.

CAMPUS COMMENT.

W. C. observed as the freshmen came into the meeting that one could tell who were the candidates by the clean collars they wore.

W. C. says that the football team enjoyed their trip to Fordham but they did not like the worm's eye view they got of the city from the subway.

Prof. in Personal Property—I found this tack in my seat. I'll put it on the desk so everybody can see the point.

Prof—Suppose E, thinking he is painting his own house, paints mine.

Louis—Where'd he get it? Horke (Vino).

Minister in Church—Will one of the ushers please open the windows? I believe in everyone sleeping in well ventilated rooms.

Among the Fraternities

KAPPA ALPHA.

Alpha Nu chapter gave its annual Thanksgiving dance at the chapter house Thursday evening, November 25.

Cecil Heffin, from William and Mary College, is registered at the Law School this year.

Alpha Nu chapter welcomed 14 new members into the chapter with a supper at the house Sunday, November 28.

Quite a number of the members attended the Army-Navy game during the Thanksgiving holidays.

George Harrison, Captain, U. S. A., late of the 82d Division, A. E. F., from Gamma chapter, University of Georgia, gave an interesting talk at the chapter house last Sunday.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON.

Sigma Phi Epsilon held a very successful dance at the chapter house on November 12. The dance was given in honor of the five pledges, who will be initiated in the near future.

Mr. Funkhauser paid a visit to the local chapter house last Friday. Funky is working very hard in Philadelphia.

Sigma Phi Epsilon gave a dinner Sunday, November 21, in honor of Joe Fehr. Nine couples, chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Huntington, enjoyed the splendid meal, which was served by the four pledges.

PHI SIGMA KAPPA.

"Luce" Garner, of Lambda '09, is back in the fold again, living at the chapter house, and giving the chapter his support.

On Thanksgiving afternoon Lambda chapter gave its first housewarming, since moving, in the form of a reception to all the other fraternities, sororities and friends. It was estimated that between four and five hundred folks visited the house during the afternoon.

ing dance at the chapter house on the Lambda chapter held its Thanksgiving night of November 25. The ballroom was decorated with autumn leaves and corn stalks. Some "regular" music completed the "perfect day."

DELTA TAU DELTA.

The Thanksgiving dance of the chapter, originally scheduled for last Thursday night, was postponed in respect to the memory of Capt. Maxwell McCullough, of the information section of the Army Air Section and member of the Delta Tau Delta Club of Washington, who was killed in an airplane accident at Bolling Field Tuesday afternoon.

Capt. McCullough, originally of the University of California chapter, was stationed for temporary duty in Washington and lived at the chapter house.

Fred Bradley, of the freshman delegation, is traveling the streets of the city in an attempt at rent collection for the F. H. Smith Company.

"Rex" Beach, who was a member of the local chapter last year, reports a valiant fight with studies from the picturesque hills at Lehigh.

SIGMA KAPPA.

Mary Brown spent the week end visiting friends at Goucher.

Rachel Benfer, who has been teaching in a mission school in Kentucky, is ill with typhoid fever.

The active chapter entertained the Theta Lambda Sigma Sorority at a fudge party Thursday evening.

A luncheon was held in the rooms on Saturday in honor of Mrs. Doyle and Mrs. Edwards.

Rosemary Arnold, who attended summer school at Ann Arbor, Mich., had a story published in the November issue of the Chimes, the monthly magazine.

SIGMA NU.

Delta Pi chapter of the Sigma Nu fraternity held its annual Thanksgiving dance at the chapter house on Thursday evening, November 25.

"Doc" Searle has returned from Cleveland, where he spent the Thanksgiving holidays.

Maj. O. M. Baldinger, Alpha Chapter, has returned to Washington for an assignment on the General Staff and is with Delta Pi chapter.

Our Soda and Sundaes Right.

DON'T take a fellow's pipe. Take some other possession. Because wrapped up in his pipe is a fellow's peace of mind, his relaxation, his contentment. This is more than true if it's a WDC Pipe, because then a good smoke is multiplied many times over. Our special seasoning process takes care of this by bringing out all the sweetness and mellowness of the genuine French briar. Just you go to any good dealer and select several good shapes. Put them in your rack. Smoke a cool one every time, and you'll be well on your way to pipe-happiness.

after the union, remain absolutely non-sectarian; that no one denomination have control or predominant influence; but that the University be in a position to receive the support of all friends of higher learning and sound morality. In the third place, if our University should accept a proposal of marriage from another and start to raise a new family of college sons and daughters, it could not neglect its present children—the 5,000 students now in actual attendance, most of them in its buildings on G Street between Twentieth and Twenty-first Streets.

"Must Better Itself."

"While our University would not marry for money and while it realizes that the enlarged family that would come into being would require a larger home—new and larger buildings—it would insist that the new conjugal partner help support the present family financially. It believes that family harmony requires that most of the present family be cared for in the present home on G Street.

"In other words, if a union is effected, although a great growth may fairly be expected and although a campus and additional buildings elsewhere may possibly become necessary, the work now carried on in G Street must be continued and very largely expanded and the University that unites with us must bring funds that can be used for this purpose. A union would not be valuable if The George Washington University could not better itself financially. It would be hurtful and ruinous, if the sole effect were to create the need of new buildings without bringing money to pay for greatly needed new buildings in the vicinity of G Street.

Necessity of Union.

"Upon such conditions as these, a union might, perhaps, be effected. But the union that is absolutely necessary, if a great University is to exist in the Nation's Capital, besides the two now under Roman Catholic control, is a union of all the other universities to be supported by all denominations except the one which is now pledged to support the Catholic University and the Georgetown University and which does this so generously and so efficiently. This does not imply hostility to the Catholic University or the Georgetown University, but merely a desire to unite and consolidate the other universities which are now existing in the District of Columbia or whose foundation is contemplated, and thus make them stronger and more serviceable to the community and to the nation.

"If the Baptists are to have a university because the Methodists have one, then the Presbyterians, the Congregationalists, the Episcopalians and every other denomination and sect will each desire one of their own. The result will be that none will have a true university, but all will have made miserable fiascoes and failures.

"In union there is strength—provided there is liberty of thought and action.

"WILLIAM MILLER COLLIER."

DRAMATIC ART COMES TO THE FRONT AT G. W.

Many G. W. Players of Last Year
Come Out to Give Their Enthusiastic Support.

The George Washington Players held their first meeting and elected officers for the year Wednesday night, November 17, in the auditorium of Lisner Hall. Arthur Nall was elected president, "Joe" Houston vice president, Maxine Girts, secretary, and "Russ" Whyte treasurer. With the exception of the president, the officers were elected unanimously.

Cameron Burton, retiring president, called the meeting to order and presided until the election of the president, when he surrendered the chair to Nall. The new president appointed a committee, consisting of Foster Hanger (chairman), "Joe" Houston and Maxine Girts, to secure plays for the association.

Following a few remarks by Mr. Burton about the Federation of Dramatic Clubs, an organization to which the G. W. Players belonged last year, President Nall appointed Robert Pulliam as delegate to the federation.

Among those present were many of the old favorites of former G. W. productions and in addition to these was a good supply of new material. The Student Council has appropriated $150 for the Players' use.

RECORD CROWD COME OUT TO FOOTBALL HOP

About 100 couples attended the football hop given by the Student Council in the ballroom of the Ebbitt Hotel Friday night, November 19. Forrest Grimes' four-piece orchestra rendered the music for the occasion and kept the festive crowd dancing to the jazziest tunes until early Saturday morning.

The programs were buff footballs with blue cords. The ballroom was quite attractive, with the great chandeliers and mirrors reflecting the gorgeously gowned co-eds and their handsome escorts. Punch was served during the dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Morse and Secretary Kayser were present, as were several of the football men. A few alumni and former G. W. students also were seen. The rest of the gathering was representative of every class and organization in George Washington.

That the affair was a social success is well known, and late returns indicate that this, the first Student Council dance of the year, was a financial success also.

LAW SCHOOL CIRCUS IS GREAT SUCCESS

The Law School circus was held on Friday and Saturday nights, November 27 and 28. The show was not carried off precisely as was planned, due to the nonappearance of some of the principal performers; but the circus can be considered a great success both financially and as an entertainment and mixer for the whole University.

The circus consisted of a series of side shows, each contributed by a fraternity or sorority of the University. Kappa Alpha produced a "Comedy in Color." The setting represented some distant island, presumably Hawaii, judging from the costumes. Howard Espey, in the role of leading lady, charmed the audience with a hula dance given in real Hawaiian style. The cast of characters included Pud Foot as a "Sailor of Color," Sam Spruce as chief attendant of the Sacred Dog, and a chorus of ladies clad in grass skirts. The chorus was made up of Frank Meyers, Oliver Henderson, Joe McPherson and McCullin.

Phi Sigma Kappa pledges, under the guiding hand of Randall Saunders, put on a show exposing some of the heretofore hidden wonders of the world. Some of the features were the "great Western hold-up," the swimming match, and a game of "hit the nigger."

in which two pledges with blackened faces were the "niggers."

Kappa Beta Pi had charge of a refreshment stand, where hot dogs and ice-cream cones could be bought. This stand was particularly attractive to the visitors.

The Women's Legal Club assisted in putting the circus across in securing settings and things of a like nature.

A fact:

Day in and day out, at the Pennsylvania R. R. Station, New York, the sales of Fatima exceed those of any other cigarette.

Two things might make you want to change your cigarette

FOR example, you might find straight Turkish cigarettes too rich for steady smoking, because of too much Turkish tobacco.

Or you might find ordinary part-Turkish or Turkish Blend cigarettes "thin" and "flat," because of too little Turkish.

In either case (should you decide to change) the logical choice would be a cigarette containing "just enough Turkish."

The only cigarette that contains less Turkish than the straight Turkish brands and more than any other Turkish Blend is Fatima.

This is the basis for Fatima's claim of "just enough Turkish."

And scores of sales facts such as the one shown above surely seem to justify Fatima's claim.

Buying Girls' Gifts in Dignity

HERE'S a quiet corner on the second floor of our store, where a fellow may buy parasols and silk hose and such things to give girls, without embarrassment. This being a man's store, you avoid the crush of women of a department store, and get what you want quietly and without embarrassment.

Gloves, silk or wool scarfs, wool tams, silk or wool hose, colored silk parasols and umbrellas. A young woman will serve you, and give you understanding service.

And listen girls--this being a man's store, this is where you want to come for neckties and things for the boys. You play safe on colorings and designs when you come to a store like this.

For men: collar bags, neckwear, silk shirts, gloves, silk or wool hose, smoking jackets, houserobes, bathrobes, house slippers, mufflers, scarf pins, cuff links, shirt studs, bill folds, cigarette cases, belts, walking sticks, umbrellas, handbags, suitcases, toilet kits,
